IN PROSPEROUS HALIFAX.

A Most Interesting Political Fight-Fine Crops. SOUTH BOSTON, VA., August 18 --(Special.)-The canvass in Halifax virtually closes this evening. The Tyler crators have been on the stump three weeks, arousing every element to do their utmost to defeat Martin in to-morrow's precinct meetings. Tyler clubs have beer organized, and his organ in the county has labored faithfully, carnestly, on renergetically to advance his cause, Martin's friends have done but little speech making. The records of both senatoria aspirants have been thoroughly ventilated from one end to the other of the county. No complaint can arise from either faction of unfair or underhanded dealing. Fun in Louisa.

BELFAST, LOUISA COUNTY, VA., August 18.—(Special.)—A tacky party was given at the country home of Dr. and Mrs. John F. Hope, on August 14th, which proved to be a most enjoyable affair, and the following ladies and gentlemen took part Mrs. K. H. Gayle, Miss Linda Young, Mr. K. H. Gayle, and Miss Irene Gayle, of Portsmouth, Va., and Mrs. Mary Hill and Miss Kate Wills, of Richmend, Va.

This was followed by a cake-walk, in which Mr. K. H. Gayle, as Rag-Time Sal, and Miss Kate Wills, as Brown Betsle, received the prizes. The day's amusement wound up with dencing the Old Virginia Reel, in true Virginia fashion.

FINE SPEECHES BY THE LAWYERS. General Field's Argument for the Prosecution - Judge McCabe and Messrs. Shelton and Bibb Speak

General James G. Field led off with the pening speech for the Commonwealth. He said he was in the case at the request of his young friend, J. G. May, who was a member of his profession, and that he always felt under obligations to a brother lawyer. He likewise alluded to Rev. N. May, the father, with whom he was intimate, and in whose church he was a member. General Field said he had no apologies to make for being in the case. He made a powerful effort to show that there was no necessity for the shooting, and, therefore, that it was not self-defence on the part of R. L. C. Barret to shoot to save his father. Judge J. B. McCabe made the first speech for the defence. He is a beautiful and forcible orator. He replied to Gene-ral Field on the point of self-defence, and handled the evidence masterfully. asserting that young Barret had nothing to do but to shoot. It will be remembered, he said, that most of the wit tesses of the Commonwealth testified that J. G. May had the chair above young Barret's head when Barret fired at May. He claimed that the law justified a son in shooting dead a man who was about to seriously injure his father. Judge Mc-Cabe said he deplored the affair as much as any man, but that every prisoner was entitled to a verdict of acquittal in case of doubt. He said further, that when of doubt. He said further, that when the scales were evenly balanced then the downy hand of mercy should turn them in favor of the accused. The speaker made a strong, logical argument, and confined himself strictly to the facts

NORFOLK, VA., August 18.-(Special.)-A frightful accident occurred at 1:3 o'clock this afternoon at Hifch's Saw-Mill. on Scott's creek, near Portsmouth, when three of the eight immense boilers exploded, causing death and destruction. The mill was not running to-day, having been shut down for repairs, and it is supposed that the engineer let the water get too low in the boilers.

All of the men killed or badly injured were colored. Douglass Shearer, the fireman, was taken from the ruins dead, his head and body being terribly mangled. DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION CITY.

It May Be Kansas City, Missouri, and Why. KANSAS CITY, August 18.-Leadin citizens who are seeking to secure the next Democratic National Convention for Kansas City sought the help of former Governor Stone, vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and received from him the following reply:

"The Democratic National Committee needs funds, and the city that comes forward with the biggest certified check (everything else being equal) will probably get what it wants. After all is said, money is the most tangible and convincing argument, and I hope you people up at Kansas City will realize this.

"There is another thing that I wished to speak of, and that's the pamphlet you folks issued. I don't quite understand that. It was either a very foolish move, or else a very wise move, and as to which class it belongs time will tell. You know in the game of poker it's not a good thing to let your opponent know the cards you hold. Well, in that pamphlet you told, or feigned to tell, what Kansas City could do for the committee. You told what your hotel and railroad facilities are; what you had in the way of a hall, and how much money you could raise." Governor Stone, vice-chairman of the raise. "Of course, this information fell into possession of other candidates, and each of them said: We must see Kansas City on this, and go her a few better." You see, you tipped off your hand, so to speak.

"But now, if that pamphlet was only a bluff, that's different. If, instead of raising $5,000, as you promised, you go to Washington next December and show the committee a certified check for $75,000, then you're playing it wise, and the chances are you'll win."

INVENTS A NEW LOCOMOTIVE.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., Proves to Be a Genius. NEWPORT, August 18.-Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., has proved to be a genius, and although at odds with his father over marrying Miss Grace Wilson, he is the smartest member of the Vanderbilt family. He always has been of a me chanical turn of mind, and has designed a sailboat and electric launch, both turn ing out fast, and with lines of beauty For several years young Vanderbilt has been in the drafting-room of the Rolling-Stock Department of the New York Cen-tral railroad, and has worked his way up, until to-day he has charge of that detrai railroad, and has worked his way upuntil to-day he has charge of that department.

It will be news to the world to know that this young millionaire is the inventor of a locombtive every part of which was made from designs furnished by him. The engine has been built, and tosts now are to begin. A special feature of the Vanderbilt locomotive is in the firebox, and, if it turns out as Mr. Vanderbilt expects, will be a big saving of labor and money. This particular firebox is arranged so that it can be removed, when burned out, or for cleaning, and replaced in one night, the removal of a few bolts being all that is necessary.

The tests will be watched with great interest, not only by the mechanical world, but by society.

"Oh, I'm not worrying about assassins," said the Governor yesterday. "I am on my vacation now, I don't know exactly what my anarchistic correspondent desires me to do."

While the Governor declines to take the matter seriously, Thomas M. Siddons is very much in earnest. Siddons said yesterday that President McKinley and others told him to threaten Pingree, as the only way to get him to act.

Siddons wants the Governor to "get Ezra T. Nelson, of Grand Rapids, into court." His reason is that he was once locked up in Kansus City for writing letters to Nelson's daughter. What he would do with Nelson in court he doesn't yet know.

L THE MILL BUILDING The Gallege

1. THE MILL BUILDING—The Gallege diff was founded a century age, but the present structure was built after the first 1865, in the most substantial manner, t a cost of $350,000, and with special virrence to the convenient and economical andling of mill products. It is from it to eight stories high, of pressed brick, with slate roof, and presents a most incesing and beautiful appearance. It is quipped with a patent automatic sprisker, supplemented by a reservoir on the bof, which greatly reduces the rate of issurance. It is located in the heart of setting the contract of the city, surrounded on all four sides or rects or thorougafares, and is distantially three blocks from the post-office.

2. THE MACHINERY—18 of the most ibstantial character. Recently a commill, capable of turning out 500 barrels of flour per day, have been added to the plant. The total capacity of the mill in flour alone is 1.400 barrels per day. In fact, in comparatively recent years over $40.000 has been spent 5.
